BIO

Bass Phenom

FRESCIA BELMAR (aka FRESHHA) is an international singer-songwriter, producer, and multi-instrumentalist from South America — born in Chile and musically trained in Brazil. Her unmatched creativity, deep musicality, and jaw-dropping solo bass performances have secured her place as one of the most thrilling and acclaimed talents on the global music scene today.

One of her most high-profile credits is her role in the upcoming Michael Jackson biopic, where she portrays the legendary guitarist Jennifer Batten. Produced by Lionsgate and shot at Sony Pictures, the film is set to hit theaters in October 2025.

Since wrapping on the movie, her solo project FRESHHA has been making serious waves in Los Angeles, with standout performances at iconic venues like The Baked Potato and The United Theater, captivating audiences with a bold, genre-defying sound and unmistakable international flair.

A woman is shown from the waist down, playing a vibrant pink electric bass guitar. She is wearing a pink jacket and colorful, multi-colored boots. The background is a rugged, rocky cliffside under a clear blue sky. The text is overlaid on a semi-transparent pink rectangular area.

After co-writing and arranging the bilingual track "Woke Up" (SPA/ENG) for Adventure Time (Cartoon Network) in partnership with HBO Max and Gibson, Frescia has only continued to soar. With over 2 Million views on Instagram, and as the author of the acclaimed "b4ssics" book series, she has carved out a powerful and respected career — all at a remarkably young age.

She was featured in Scott's Bass Lessons video "10 of the Greatest Bass Woman Ever," praised among the greats for her standout creativity and fearless musical approach.

One of the most breathtaking moments in her artistry is her virtuosic bass chord-melody arrangement of Chile's beloved anthem "Gracias a la Vida," created to honor the 100th anniversary of folk icon Violeta Parra. She followed this with her explosive release "Everybody Likes You Now," where she delivers a masterclass in musical brilliance — composing, singing, arranging, and performing every instrument herself. A true tour de force, placing her firmly among the most electrifying, genre-blurring artists of her generation.

Her self-produced, composed, arranged, and recorded debut album, "FRESH", is set for release later this year — a project already generating buzz on the international music scene.
